

Welcome to the new 11+ Dashboard!

What is Children's University online?

Children's University Online is a fun, safe and secure online space for participants to record what they're doing. Children can use this alongside their Passport to Learning, collecting stamps in their passports that can then be posted online where they'll unlock additional information about their activities.

While the Passport to Learning is a brilliant way for children to hold a physical record of their participation, using it alongside Children's University Online adds huge value both for them and you as a school!

Children's University Online has been built to help streamline and remove a lot of the administrative work that can be involved in coordinating Children's University, and instead create huge value in time-saving processes and the reporting of participation data.

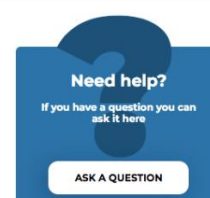

Why have we built the 11 + dashboard?

The 11+ dashboard is built especially for secondary aged children, it is designed to engage older children and is more mature in style and functionality than the regular Children's University Online platform which is aimed predominantly at primary school aged children. With the 11+ children are able to collect stamps by adding their own activities, they can also reflect on the structured learning they take part in, within school and outside of the classroom! The self-led activities and reflections can be easily monitored by Children University Managers and teachers allowing for more advanced reporting and data collection.

Let's take a look around!

The lay out for the 11+ is a more mature monochrome colour scheme, suitable for children 11 – 16 years old.

Hi Cordelia!
This is your Children's University dashboard.

Children are able to add their own activities!

This is a brand new feature to Children's University Online and is only available with the 11+ functionality. Children using the 11+ platform are able to gain credits by writing reviews of Books, Experiences, Films and Places. They gain half a credit for each review they complete and can fill in ten reviews from each category a year. The reviews are designed to make sure the child thinks carefully about what they are writing, there is also a minimum word count and Children's University Managers are able to see the reviews that have been submitted.

Add your own activity

Have you done something new that you think you should get a Children's University stamp for? You can share information about this here and get a stamp. You can do up to 10 of each of these each year!

Once the child selects the activity they wish to add they will be taken to the review page, in this example we are looking at the book review where they are asked to write about the plot, characters, give their opinion and to summarise before marking the book out of ten and submitting the activity. They are unable to submit it, if the word count is under the minimum of 40 words. They are also able to view all their submitted stamps at any time.

Pupil post activity reflection survey

When a child has completed any activity that they have gained a stamp code for they are invited to reflect on it and complete a short survey thinking about the skills they have worked on children will need to reflect on each skill that is linked to the activity, they will gain half a credit for every 4 activities they reflect on.

Reflect on the activity – 'Steam Train Coaching'

Well done! You just got a Children's University stamp for completing the activity – 'Steam Train Coaching'.

By completing this survey, you will get a chance to think and reflect on the skills you've developed, and an extra half a stamp for every four activities you give feedback on.

You'll be asked three questions about up to three skills. There will be statements you may agree with or disagree with. There are no right or wrong answers, so just feel free to be honest. This will also help Children's University to know more about the activities that we encourage young people to do and help us to improve those activities for other children.

Tell us about Staying positive

By taking part in 'Steam Train Coaching', it was hoped that you would use your skills in Staying positive.

What we mean by Staying positive is that this activity should have given you the opportunity to overcome setbacks and achieve goals.

Reporting on the reflection surveys

Children's University Manager's and school staff are able to create reports on the activity reflection survey that pupils complete, once this report is exported it will create an excel document with all the information that has been filled in by each child. Being able to create these reports is invaluable when measuring the positive impact that Children's University has on the schools and the children that work with us.
